

TO TEST LAW IN HIGHEST COURTSDEMOCRATS MEAN TO HAVE COURT INTERPRET 20 PER CENT LAW.

ARE TO RUSH THE CASE

Life of Democracy is at Stake—Attorney General May Give His Opinion Adverse to Law.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 9.—The court proceeding by which the democratic state central committee will test the validity of the 20 per cent law will take the form of an original suit in equity in the supreme court.

The petition will be prefaced by a "plea public" expediency that demands immediate action by the highest court as a measure of saving time.

This was the announcement of Chairman J. E. Davies this morning. He added that the democratic state central committee will wait for more definite returns.

The proposed suit will be based upon the failure of some one of the various democratic candidates to receive the required 20 per cent vote at the primaries on Tuesday. The belief is held that on account of the circumstances surrounding the question, the supreme court will entertain the suit and the matter of laws and constitutionality will be settled quickly.

From La Crosse. La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 9.—That the law requiring all parties to register 20 per cent of their total vote in the primaries to gain a place on the election ballot, which threatens the democratic, is unconstitutional and will be so declared by the attorney general, in the statement of J. E. Davies, democratic state chairman, today, who has demanded a decision of Attorney General Gilbert.

In Rock County. Rock county is directly affected by this law and the ultimate decision. While no definite figures have been obtained as to the exact vote of the party on Tuesday last it is not expected they polled enough to have their names placed on the official ballot in the November election unless the law is declared unconstitutional. Even in the cities of Janesville and Beloit they fell below the necessary twenty per cent.

WIRELESS REPORT OF DISASTER TO BIG CAR FERRY

Car Ferry on Pere Marquette Line Said to Have Been Disabled Off Sheboygan.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 9.—A call for help from the powerful Pere Marquette car ferry lying between Milwaukee, Manitowish, and Ladington, this morning, sent two tug and the life saving crew out on the lake to the assistance of the distressed vessel.

The exact cause of the call for aid, which was received by wireless, has not been made known to the officials. The ferry, No. 18, carries a full cargo of freight cars bound for Milwaukee. There were 42 officers and men on board.

A wireless was received at the local office at ten o'clock this morning saying the crew of Car Ferry No. 18, had been picked up by Car Ferry No. 17. This leads to the inference that the distressed car ferry has been abandoned.

No word was received from Captain Kelly, master, whether the abandoned vessel is sunk or not.

Later Report. Ladington, Mich., Sept. 9.—A wireless message from a passing steamer places the number of dead in the car ferry disaster at twenty, including all the officers.

The disaster to Car Ferry No. 18 occurred 20 miles from Port Washington, Wis., and the cause of the sinking is not yet ascertained.

The lost vessel carried a crew of fifty men and had on board two lady passengers, said to be from Saginaw. Of these twenty were drowned.

The boat was valued at $400,000, the cargo at $150,000. Details will not be known until the arrival of Ferry No. 17, which responded to the wireless message for help late this afternoon.

Claim None Lost. Detroit, Mich., Sept. 9.—The officers of the steamship line insist that none of the passengers of Car Ferry No. 18 were drowned, basing the statement on early reports from Ladington.

BUT 6 MEMBERS OF
BALLINGER-PINCHOT
COMMITTEE REPORT

Others Refuse to Attend Session Today, So That a Quorum Was Not Present.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 9.—But six members of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee, one less than a quorum, were present when the session opened today. Sutherland, of Utah, McCall, of Massachusetts, and Denby, of Michigan, all republicans, refused to attend the meeting. Rep. Olmstead, of Pennsylvania, is expected to arrive tonight. Senator Root of New York and Senator Flint of California were entirely out of the calculations. Neither faction could muster a quorum.

The members present sent after the absence, but they refused to respond to the summons. Chairman Nelson, after suggesting an adjournment to Chicago on Sept. 15, and the committee declining to adopt the suggestion, left the room. Nelson later sent notice of the meeting's adjournment, to meet in Chicago, Sept. 15th. The committee denied his authority to take such action.

Anti-Ballinger members declared they are legally in session as the committee and will continue their deliberations here. They declare they will not attend the session in Minneapolis and will remain in Chicago. Three of the Ballinger faction left the committee room and refused to return today, thus making a quorum impossible.

YOUNG MURDERER IS PLACED ON TRIAL

Plea Of Insanity Will Probably Be Relied Upon To Save Bertram Spencer From Electric Chair

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 9.—A plea of insanity will probably be relied upon to save from the electric chair Bertram G. Spencer, the self-confessed highwayman and murderer, whose case was called for trial in this city today. Spencer is charged with the murder of Miss Martha B. Blackstone on the night of March 31 last. The murder, it is alleged, was the climax of a crime extending over many years and which the young man had successfully concealed by working steadily every day and apparently leading a respectable life.

The killing of Miss Blackstone occurred at the home of Mrs. Sarah J. Dow in one of the suburbs of this city. Mrs. Dow, her two daughters and Miss Blackstone, who was a guest for the night, were seated in the dining room about a small table, when an intruder made a demand for money from the dining room. They looked up to see a masked man in the dark doorway threatening them with a revolver. Mrs. Dow retained her composure and replied "We have no money," but Miss Blackstone in fright jumped to her feet and ran screaming into an adjoining room. The burglar said "If you want to get killed, keep on screaming," and fired as she spoke, the bullet entering Miss Blackstone's breast. Death followed instantly. The murderer turned the revolver on the group, shooting Miss Harriet Dow in the head and seriously wounding her. The assailant then made his escape through a grove surrounding the house.

For several days passes added by bloodhounds secured Springfield and the entire vicinity in vain effort to obtain a clue to the murderer. The authorities concluded that the perpetrator of the crime was the same person who had been burglarizing Springfield homes for two years and who always escaped detection. Finally a citizen whose home had been entered some time previously turned over to the police a gold pocket watch which he believed had been dropped by the burglar while "sneaking over a fence in the rear of his house. Initials were engraved on the pocket and with this clue to work on the police finally arrested Spencer, a young clerk employed in a local establishment. The initials on the pocket corresponded with those of Spencer's sister.

The young man broke down under a 24-hours merciless grilling and confessed that he was the mysterious masked burglar and the murderer of Miss Blackstone. In his confession Spencer made it clear that, associated with his overpowering desire to steal, was an intense love of excitement, and a high degree of personal vanity. This latter the young man had gratified for two years by baffling the police and reading the newspaper accounts of his exploits.

The day's police that he had experienced no qualms of conscience from his crimes. He revealed a career of almost lifelong crime. Following a blow on the head while he was a small boy, in Lebanon, Conn., his native town, he said, he began to steal at youth, he held up young women on the highways and entered houses, by engaging in legitimate occupations by day, he had always escaped detection.

Transacted.

Considerable routine business was transacted at the adjourned meeting of the common council last evening and after the decision of the people regarding the proposition of building new bridges at Fourth avenue and Racine street had been officially recognized, plans and specifications made to advertise for proposals. Buchholz, who is in St. Paul and who has not yet been served with a notice of the Center avenue injunction proceedings, and Ald. Rehfeld were absent from the session, and no mention of the impending litigation was made in open meeting, though the subject is said to have received due attention in the lengthy session chamber confab. City Treasurer James A. Fathens who isjourning in one of the northern hay fever camps is the only other city official of the group who has thus far been occupying the summer. The hearing before Judge Graham last for Monday, Sept. 12, Mayor Carl is evidently on the alert to head off any more improper repairs with crushed stone as he promptly declared one of Ald. Brown's orders providing for such work on South Third street out of order but as promptly revoked when the City Father remonstrated, stating that it was a macadam street and wondering if he was expected to have it plugged with baled hay.

Matters of Finance.

At the instance of the finance committee, the report of Harry S. Haggart who audited the city treasurer's books for the year ending June 30 and found only a few trifling clerical errors, was adopted. This report showed the total amount of money in the four banks on that date to be $68,667.35. Balances in some of the funds were as follows:

School	$12,823.53
General	4,672.48
Pire and Water	996.77
Lighting	7,145.53
Library	1,398.39
Bridge	5,531.56
First Ward	658.82
Second Ward	619.25
Third Ward	6,739.21
Fourth Ward	828.51
Fifth Ward	1,085.31
Fireman's Pension	2,816.81

The city treasurer's report for August and the finance committee's report on bills were adopted. The clerk was directed to draw on the treasurer in the sum of $10 payable for the general fund to E. J. Howland, for the city of a building on primary election day. A measure was passed calling for the payment of inspectors and clerks for their services on registration and primary days. A report from the street assessment committee approving the sewer construction work done by Enl, Cochems & Nobel in Dist. 14, stating that a balance of $474.14 was due, and calling for the delivery of certificates of special assessment, was adopted.

Highways

The street assessment committee's reports on proposals received for improving Jackson, Wisconsin, and East streets in the Third ward, and for laying curb and gutter on Minora Point Ave. and other thoroughfares and the contracts and bonds appertaining thereto, were adopted, and the city clerk was directed to advertise the city's intention to issue bonds to pay for improvements on South Main, Sinclair, South Second, and South Third streets. The bonds of A. E. Rutledge of Rockford and G. D. Cannon for street improvement work were approved.

The street commissioner was directed to put a tile drain across Jackson St. on the south side of Oakland Ave., repair S. Third St.; to fill the holes on N. Bluff, N. First, and Glen streets with rubble; and serve notices to build standard walks on the owners of the following property: lots 399, 400, 401, and 402 in Pioneer 3rd, addition, fronting on Caroline st., lot 50 in the Riverside Park addition on the north side of Vista avenue North, and lot 1 block E. of Wheeler's addition on the east side of Logan St.

Directions were given the city engineer to file a grade for Vista Ave. north from Logan St. to Fremont St.; and a sidewalk grade for the north side of Vista Ave. north from Logan St. to Grove St.

Supt. W. E. Dullin's report of deliveries from the stone crusher for the two weeks ending Sept. 3 showed that the Gund-Graham Co. had drawn 338 1/2 yards of crushed stone to Sinclair St.; that Hager had drawn 50 yards to the site of the Wisconsin Telephone Co.'s new building; and that the city had drawn one yard of the material to N. Main St.

Chief Appleby's report for the police department during the month of August, which was received and placed on file, chronicled 82 arrests, for the following offenses: Violation of the river ordinance 1; assault and battery 1; larceny 2; picking pockets 2; larceny 1; running away from home 1; drunkenness 74. Thirty-three were taken to court and 49 discharged. The arrests were credited as follows: Appleby, 11; John Brown, 4; Fanning 17; Morley 6; Champion 7; Sam Brown 8; Dorn 13; Hallen 13; Dalton 1.

The Municipal Court Report for August showed that fees, fines, and penalties aggregating $50.38 had been collected.

Favorable Action was taken on a report submitted by the board of education.

Chief Klein's monthly report for the fire department showed that there had been 82 alarms since Jan. 1. He announced that the exercising wagon was in need of new wheels and axle; that the old horse "Doc" was in bad shape and ought to be replaced by a new one; for use on the Chief's wagon and as a substitute on other wagons; and that 300 feet of defective fire hose mentioned in a previous report had been put in first class condition by the manufacturers without expense to the city. He recommended that one clapper sluiceway and two stream dividers be purchased; also two 3 inch underwriters' play pipes with 1 1/2 inch offset, the cost to be about $55. In conclusion he called attention to violations of the ordinance of Oct. 31, 1904, which so amended Ordinance No. 154 as to compel all public utility companies using wires to elevate them at least 40 feet from the ground on the principal streets and in the downtown district. The purpose had been to get the wires high enough so that they would not interfere with the use of the department ladders should fire break out in any of the high buildings. Orders introduced by Ald. Lowell and passed authorized the Chief to dispose of the unsatisfactory horse and instructed the City Attorney to prosecute all parties violating the wire ordinance.

Miscellaneous Business.

Bids from five firms for furnishing the city with 123 tons of coal were opened and passed upon. W. J. Baker & Co.'s offer to supply egg, range, and chestnut coal at $8.75 a ton and backwheat at $6.00 was the most attractive and was accepted.

A petition from Mrs. Emille Koester, administratrix of the estate of the late Leo Koester, for permission to transfer to her license for the saloon at 51 S. River St. to Paul Lindtke was granted and Lindtke's bond approved. Further time was granted the judicial committee for the consideration of a plumber's bond filed by F. O. Ambrose.

Health Officer Report.

Health Officer J. B. Richards, in a report to the council, recommended the establishment in the congested portion of the city of a district where, in connection of all the yards with the sewerage system should be required. The outline suggested for the proposed district was as follows: Northerly by North First street and Wall street, or Prospect avenue and West Bluff street; easterly by Division street; southerly by St. Lawrence avenue and Center street; westerly by Academy street. No action was taken on the recommendation.

WINTER SERIES OF SPORTS OPEN SUNDAY

Janesville Team, With Players Picked
From League Plays
Deloit.

With a lineup composed of four players from the Wisconsin-Illinois league, two from the Trolley league, one from Iowa, one from the Interstate league, and Archie Anderson, one of the stars of last season's "winter" baseball games as catcher, Manager Jack Ward's Janesville nine will meet a picked nine from Deloit next Sunday at 2 o'clock in the first of a series of games to be played there this fall. In the box for Janesville will be Burns, who played with the Madison state W-L team, with Neer, from the same aggregation, on the first sack. Brownwick of Green Bay will cover second, and Walsh of Fond du Lac will be shortstop. Miller and Fulton of the Trolley league will play third base and left field, respectively. Smith, who occupies the center of the garden, is from the Iowa league and Boele, right fielder, from the Interstate league.

After the twenty-eighth of this month the "big league" series will be begun, with players drafted from the major leagues and the leading minor organizations. Among the players signed are McCurtick, Owen and Melton of the White Sox staff, and Flene, Altizer, and others from the Minneapolis team of the American association.

Danger of Vegetarian Shoes.

"I'm a vegetarian," he said, "but I draw the line at shoes. I wore a pair of vegetarian shoes on my vacation in Maryland, and one warm afternoon, after my good Maryland dinner of fried chicken, hot corn pone and waffles, I laydown in the farm yard under a tree for a snooze. I snoozed, I suppose, an hour or two. I awoke with an itchy feeling about the feet. I raised my head and saw a couple of sheep eating away calmly. They had finished both shoes but the heels and uppers."

Get Rid of Lice.

Lice on animals sap away their vitality and hence rob you of money. It is cheaper to invest $10 or $20 in a dipping vat and oil than to lose many times as much from the ravages. A good way to kill lice on hogs is to throw crude oil on posts where they will rub against it. Wrap the post with rough burlap and saturate the burlap with oil.

HOLME'S The Store for YOU

THREE KILLED BY HOT BLAZ.

Auto Crashes Into Train Dearing Molten Metal—One Injured.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Mr. and Mrs. Peter C. Losterhouse and Mrs. Blanche Hunt were burned to death beneath a ton or more of molten slag last night, when an automobile containing four persons crashed into an ore train coming from the Illinois Steel company plant at South Chicago.

Mrs. Anna Baker, the fourth occupant of the car, had a narrow escape, but escaped with her life. She was the only person to jump from the car before the machine dashed into the train, and broke a tendon in her right foot. Hardly able to move, the woman dragged herself, inch by inch from the stream of molten metal that rushed toward her when the cultrons were overturned. Just as the woman exhausted by the pain, fainted, the flow of metal lost its velocity and stopped, leaving on the ground a few inches from her prostrate body.

No explanation could be found by the police for the accident.

OPENS UP 90,000,000 ACRES.

Government Rules on Land Withdrawn From Entry.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Approximately 90,000,000 acres of land withdrawn from entry as being valuable for coal deposits or for classification, were thrown open to agricultural surface entry under regulations approved by Acting Secretary of the Interior Pierce.

The opening of these lands was accomplished under the act of June 22, 1910, one of the administration conservation measures, providing for the agricultural entry of the surface of public coal lands, the coal deposits being reserved for separate disposition by the United States. It does not apply to Alaska.

9 SCHOOL MISTRESSES STRIKE.

Brown Township, Near Columbus, O., Tied Up by Wage Dispute.

Columbus, O., Sept. 9.—Another strike is on in this county, and the school children of Brown township are rejoicing. Their nine teachers have struck for higher wages. The fair school mistresses are calling the school board members "horrid old things," and declare they won't teach in Brown township till they are given $50 a month. The pay is now only $42.50 and $45. The board is stubborn and says that is enough. The schools, which should have opened Monday, are closed.

FARMERS ARRESTED FOR PEITY THEFTS

Oliver Street and Frank Millard, Who Live Near Whitewater, Admit Guilt This Morning.

Oliver Street, a farmer residing near Whitewater and Frank Millard of Johnstown Center, appeared in municipal court this morning on a warrant sworn out by William J. McCard, charging them with the theft of three young pigs, chickens, corn, a bridle and other articles from neighboring farmers. Both men pleaded guilty but Millard was fined $10 and costs, amounting to $13 for one offense while both were held under bonds to insure their appearance on Monday in answer to a second charge.

The two arrests were made late yesterday by Sheriff Schobel who made the trip from this city by auto and it is thought that thefts which have been going on for the past year in this vicinity will be ended. Street has two step sons, one of whom has accompanied him on his thieving trips and when the lad was arrested in Whitewater yesterday, he confessed to the thefts and the arrest of Street and Millard followed.

In court this morning, Street admitted freely that he had committed the various thefts enumerated, but stated that Millard was not with him except on one trip when eight bags of corn were taken from Warren Haskins' crib. Millard also admitted his guilt in this instance but asserted that this was his only offense. In accordance with the testimony, Millard was fined ten dollars and costs and will appear on Monday with Street who was held under bond of $200 in the meantime. District Fisher will make more thorough examination of the circumstances.

It is hardly probable that Millard will be found guilty of stealing the chickens and other live stock. His case is a particularly pitiful one. Although almost blind from catarrhs, he has out a scanty existence by driving a dray in Whitewater. At the time he was arrested, he had but $1.50 in his possession and food in the house. There are five children, the oldest six years old, and according to his statement, there will be six before he can return home.

Antidote for Seasickness.

Antidotes for seasickness are in great demand in France. A retired naval surgeon has been advising that compression of the stomach will inevitably prevent any qualms on the water. But no half measures will suffice. The traveler must abstain from food for eight hours before embarking, then swallow himself in a bandage of webbing drawn as tightly as he can bear it and twisted round the body some half-dozen times.

GIVES STARTLING TESTIMONY BEFORE INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION.

President E. P. Ripley of the Santa Fe Railroad.

Chicago, Ill.—The interstate commission of commerce, represented by examiners G. M. Brown and C. R. Hillyer and Attorney Frank Lyon, has been the center of national interest during the Chicago session, but from the Chicago hearing. On September 7, a second session was held in New York, and other sessions in Washington later.

The whole matter is the outcome of the attempted horizontal raise in railroad rates by carriers, and it is with the intention of securing all possible detail on both sides of the case that the commission has taken up the investigation. The most important witnesses of the entire hearing was President E. P. Ripley of the Santa Fe Railroad. His testimony in the interest of the carriers was that existing freight rates were too low in proportion to the advances in operating expenses and the necessity for more capital to carry on the extensive improvements and operations.

Matches Not By-Products.

It is not to be assumed that, by reason of the smallness of matches, the makers thereof ever utilize scraps or bits of wood left over. The contrary is the case. Matches are not by-products. Any wood rejected by the match machine goes to the by-product establishment, and of these by-products of the match business may be mentioned some, such as doors and cashes, that in some instances form an industry as important as the match industry itself.

More Room to Live In.

We do not realize half our possibilities. We do not more than begin to possess our inheritance. Our hills are full of gold and we only scratch the sand and the shallow soil on the surface. We live in little hungalows in the valley when there are splendid estates waiting for use on the hills. Shall we not push out our tent pins and get more room to live in?—E. R. Miller, D. D.

June is God's gift to the poor. He feeds them with the sweet air, he clothes their naked bodies with the warmth of the sunshine. I never feel inclined to be charitable in June. SETTLED.

The primary election is over, and the voters have signified at the polls what and whom they want. We have no use for the primary election law, but so long as it is on the statute books it is entitled to the deference of good citizenship.

It is perhaps superfluous to say here that The Sentinel is not wildly delighted with the election verdict, nor convinced that the voters have chosen altogether wisely in respect of their own interest.

But the right of choice was theirs, they have exercised it; and ours is the not always agreeable duty to bow to the will of the majority.

"Time sometimes brings in its train justification of the judgment of the majority, and we look forward to such justification in some leading particulars, with unimpaired confidence in the principles we have stood for in the campaign, at times perhaps with undue heat, but always with honesty of conviction and rectitude of intent.

It is too early to particularize on the results as bearing on individual candidates. For the general result the general or psychological explanation is not far to seek. The wave of popular emotions, driven by a vague sense of unrest and attracted to the promise of radical change and innovations as the tides are drawn by the moon, carried to victory the politicians who exploited it and rode its crest.

"Sooner or later it will spend its force and recede, stranding many who rode it in the recent campaign.

But the party contest is over, and the party verdict is in. The people have spoken, and that settles the issue for us.

The Sentinel has no prophesies of disaster, no tears over spilled milk, no sorrow of defeat to exhibit; and assuredly no apologies for the fight it made for what it believed to be right and reasonable and good for the people."

The Milwaukee Sentinel thus comments on the results of the primary election. The Free Press and other papers around the state who supported men who were loyal to Tatt and his administration, express the same sentiment, but the tide of popular opinion was against them and the power of the press is all under such circumstances.

Tariff agitation, the high cost of living, trusts and combinations, and similar topics have been on the minds of the people.

The new alignment means many changes which will be watched with confidence by the men responsible for bringing them about, and with interest by people who differed with them.

It is idle to suppose that all the virtue and honesty is wrapped up in the men who will assume command, or that they possess more ability as statesmen than the men they will succeed.

The ship of state is a seaworthy craft which has been piloted over many stormy seas by able hands. If the new command develops the same ability the people will be satisfied and there will be no occasion for criticism.

The interests of the American people are mutual. Human rights and property rights are inseparable. In the economy of life it is given to the majority to serve, not as servants but as independent citizens, but service is dependent on capital and a disposition to invest it where others may share in its use.

The greatest philanthropists of this or any other age are the men who furnish employment to the masses. Corporations may need regulating and the greed of wealth may need curbing, but there is a limit which may not be passed without disaster which will result in hardship to the masses.

The spirit of reform is in the air and people are jubilant over the prospective outcome, but the good sense of the American people will demand that stability be preserved by conservative action on the part of public servants.

THE LORIMER INCIDENT.

The action of Col. Roosevelt in refusing to attend a banquet with William Lorimer, while a shock to the Hamilton club, which entertained him, has contributed to his popularity among the people.

It is just these startling and unexpected things which have won for him the respect and admiration which he so fully enjoys, and which enables him to overshadow the President.

Roosevelt has been accused of many inconsistencies and credited with unbounded self-esteem, but his integrity and rugged honesty has ever been above suspicion.

He has no tolerance with graft or the grafter and conditions in Illinois so outraged his sense of justice and decency that he proposed to use a free lance in dealing with the situation.

His summary action in dealing with Senator Lorimer paved the way for the scathing rebuke which followed and while humiliating to the Hamilton club will result in good to the commonwealth.

Political corruption is one of the besets of the campaign. It has done much to weaken the foundations of the republican party and destroy public confidence.

Colonel Roosevelt is a republican and he recognizes the importance of purging the party from every taint of suspicion. He believes that Lorimer gained his seat in the senate through bribery, and he don't propose to associate with him at a banquet.

No other man could have administered so stingingly a rebuke and it will be face-saving in results, because it was aimed at the system, and the man was but an incident.

If the republican party is to regain confidence and maintain a foothold a thorough system of housecleaning must be established, and Colonel Roosevelt has set the pace.

The Hamilton club of Chicago is one of the oldest as well as one of the strongest republican clubs in the country, but it is unfortunate in having men like Lorimer on the membership roll. The day is past when everything is considered fair in politics, for the public conscience is aroused, and political honesty is demanded.

If Secretary Ballinger is wise he will relieve the administration by resigning. The investigating committee has found him guilty, and popular opinion is against him. His days of usefulness as a cabinet officer are ended.

Insurgency is in the saddle throughout the middle west, and the men who have opposed the movement are relieved of responsibility and will be content to become camp followers.

No man is politically dead, under the primary law. He can bob up again whenever ambition prompts, without consulting anything but his bank account.

If the Outlook magazine keeps pace with its editorial staff it will be going some, but it pays to advertise.

Politics and gravel seem to be badly mixed in the Center avenue fight. May the best man win.

Prompt action on the part of the council indicates that the new bridges will soon be under way.

The census figures indicate that the saloons have exceeded the speed limit.

THE POET PHILOSOPHER

By WALT MASON.

(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthews Adams.)

All day within her moated grange she sat and listened to the rats, and murmured: "It is mighty strange that I must wear last summer's hat."

The moated grange on the roof, a GRANGE—hinge was broken on the door and sill, with her impatient hoof, the woman sadly his blooming bride; he saw that I was amply fed; I had glad rags and hats besides." Her chair collapsed beneath her then; she rolled across the rotting floor. "Dad just the best!" she cried again. "I would make most any lady's maid."

She went to cook her humble hash, the only fare she had to eat; the stovepipes tumbled with a crash; the skillet fell and smashed her feet. She stood upon her head and wept, as she wept for half a year, for vanished hopes and vows unkept, for days of gloom and nights of fear. She only said: "The light grows dim, my husband comes to me no more; methinks must abandon him, and go to clanking in a store. And he was once so kind and good, until the pinch of frost came, and now he's worried best the wood and coal and state and things like those, should gobble him by fuggenbuck, and socks he haunts the corner store, and talks about it all the time, and brings home grub to me, no more!"

Heart to Heart

Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

THE FEVER OF SPECULATION.

A letter to the writer of these lines from a father says:

"I wish you would write something about the dangers of speculation. Many young men are tampering with the board of trade."

Therefore this story.

G. F. Utterback of Sigourney, Ia., committed suicide after leaving this warning:

"My dying advice to young men of the west is to avoid the board of trade and the cereal speculation market as you would the black plague. Once the fever hits you there is no escape. It will get into the very marrow of your bones."

Utterback knew.

He was the cashier of his father's bank and was doing the very thing he ought not to have done—speculating. Several times he was ahead of the game; but, like the others, he kept on. They all do that. One day a crash came in the market, and young Utterback was $47,000 short.

Well—

Being in full control of the bank, he was able to cover up his deficit, hoping to make a lucky turn that would let him out.

For two years he concealed his operations. Meantime, feeling constant dread of exposure, he suffered untold anguish.

Finally the bank got short of funds. Utterback wrote his warning to young men and then shot himself.

That was some time ago, but the poor boy's warning is as cogent as when he wrote it with trembling finger and quivering lip.

It was the old story.

"The fever will get into the very marrow of your bones."

"This is the definition in the dictionary: 'High temperature, accompanied by shivering and chills, followed by a quickened pulse and inspiration, then thirst, loss of appetite, prostration, emaciation.'

Could there be an apter description of the symptoms of the fever of speculation? From beginning to ending the fever of the body is a picture of the fever of the mind.

"Avoid it," said young Utterback, "as you would the black plague." Its contagion breeds pestilence; its fever spells madness.

Young man—

Some one has tersely and wisely observed, "The wheat pit of the Chicago board of trade is only a few feet across, but it is as deep as hell."

Do you hear?

IT IS AS DEEP AS HELL!

Valuable Assistance.

Children always love to have a "finger in the pie" and to help with whatever is going on. When mother or nurse does everything for them they are deprived of a great deal of pleasure and will not be so well fitted to struggle for themselves when the time comes as they would have been if they had been accustomed to do things for themselves. They should be encouraged to be useful and to assist with any preparations that may be going on.

Divorce Statistics.

In England and Wales, to every 100,000 of population, there are annually granted two divorces; in Ireland, less than one; in Italy, three; in Scotland, four; in Germany, fifteen; in France, twenty-three; and in the United States, seventy-three.

Do Not Worry.

Do not worry; eat three square meals a day; say your prayers, be courteous to your creditors; keep your digestion good; exercise; go slow, and go easy. Maybe there are other things that your special case requires to make you happy, but, my friend, these I reckon will give you a good lift.—Abraham Lincoln.

Complainers.

What is odious but noise, and people who scream and howl! People whose vine points always east, who live to dine, who send for the doctor, who coddle themselves, who toast their feet on the register, who intrigue to secure a padded chair and a corner out of the draught. Suffer them once to begin the enumeration of their infirmities, and the sun will go down on the unfinished tale.—Emerson.

The Heavy Heart.

Great calamities do not unshelter existence. It is the petty vexations, the small jealousies, the little disappointments, that make the heart heavy and the temper sour. Don't let them. Anger is pure waste of vitality. It helps nobody and blinds everybody. No woman does her best except when she is cheerful. A light heart makes busy hands and keeps the mind free and alert. No misfortune is so great as one that sours the temper.

Proper Fumigation.

OFFICIAL CANVAS OF THE RETURNS COMMENCED TODAY

All the Figures Tend to Show That Democrats Failed to Poll Necessary 20 Per Cent of Vote.

County Clerk Howard Lee, Chairman of the County Board J. A. Paul and Supervisor J. C. McEvoy began the canvass of the election returns at the court house this morning and the task may not be completed until Monday.
Carelessness on the part of election officials is evidenced by the non-appearance of returns for the prohibition party from Bradford, Center, Porter, Rock, Spring Valley, Union, and the village of Oxfordville.

The prevalent belief that the democrats failed to poll the necessary 20 per cent of the vote cast at the previous state election is borne out by some of the figures already checked off by the inspectors. Adolph J.
Schultz, democratic candidate for governor, received but 354 votes in the county and 108 in the city of Janesville as compared with 3,130 and 935 for Aylward in 1908. The total democratic vote for United States senator was 306, of which number 11, Williams received 161, Hurt Williams 130, and Robert M. La Follette 109.
Crawford, received 303 votes and Crawford 12. The city of Janesville which gave J. P. Hutchison, candidate for the assembly, 985 democratic votes in 1908, had only 197 for James B. Lamb. The vote for the three county candidates had not been checked at three o'clock this afternoon but there was every indication that they had fared worse than the ones on the state ticket.

The "missing" town of Center returns the following vote: La Follette 64, Cook 21, McGovern 34, Lewis 30,
Fairchild 20, Bancroft 37, Tucker 25,
Gunderson 12, Gettle 45, Whitte 38,
Denoko 61, Ransom 17, Hemmings-48, Dunwiddie 26, Bunley 41, Davis 20.

Ten Brothers at Cricket.

A cricket match played at South Croydon, England, was remarkable from the fact that in one eleven ten brothers named Parrie played, the youngest being nineteen years of age.
They gave a good account of themselves by getting 150 runs in two innings against their opponents.

CONFESSES TO SLAYING WOMAN.

Young Man Tells Ohio Sheriff He Killed Mrs. Walter Rayner.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 8.—William Van Gelder, nineteen, son of a horseman whose string of horses has been stalled at the Rockport track, in Rockport village, confessed the killing in Rockport of Mrs. Walter L. Rayner by himself and a "pal," August 27, according to Sheriff Hirstus. The youth's confession was made after he had been arrested.

VanGelder told the sheriff he and his "pal" had started a series of hold ups the night before the slaying; had held up a farmer who drove along ahead of Walter Rayner and his wife, who were returning from the city market in a wagon, and were angered because this farmer drove by them in defiance of their commands. They shot at the Rayner wagon without giving a warning, VanGelder said.

ONE GIRL KIDNAPER CAPTURED.

Passes at Argentine, Pa., Still Pursuing Three Other Men.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 8.—Broken with fatigue and expressing a fear of violence from the men he knew were pursuing him, John Alamanito, one of the four Italians who kidnaped twelve-year-old Mary Grando of Argentine, Pa., Tuesday night, was captured at Argentine. Alamanito and his companions are charged with keeping the girl all night in the woods and later locking her in an abandoned house, where she was found the next day by searching parties. The searching party, which numbered 200 men, has dwindled to 20, the men withdrawing, they said, because of threats from black hand agents. Bloodhounds are being used to track the other three men.

PRINCE TAKES TITLE IN WALES.

King George Decides on Place for Investiture.

London, Sept. 8.—For the first time in hundreds of years the investiture of the prince of Wales will take place in Wales. After a keen competition between Cardiff and Carnarvon for the honor, the king has decided in favor of Carnarvon. The ceremony will occur in July.

G. T. Perkins, Rubber Man, Dead. Akron, O., Sept. 8.—George T. Perkins, a millionaire rubber manufacturer, formerly president of the B. F. Goodrich company, died here, aged seventy-one years.

MINE STRIKE ENDED; OWNERS GRANT RAISE

Practically All Demands of Miners Are Conceded by Operators—Men Return to Work.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—As a result of an agreement reached between mine workers' officials and representatives of the Illinois Coal Operators' association, 40,000 miners will pick up their tools and resume work at once, thus ending the strike which has been prolonged for five months.

Practically every demand of the men has been granted. A contract extending up to April 1, 1912, was signed today.

The average increase to the miners in wages will amount to eight cents per ton, or an aggregate of $1,000,000 annually. The installation of safety appliances and general betterments which the operators agree to give the men will increase the cost of putting coal on the market nearly 12 cents per ton.

Of the 72,000 miners who quit work April 1 more than 28,000 already have signed up and resumed work. The balance will begin active work so soon as the mines can be pumped out and put into condition for operation. It is thought that by the middle of next week every mine in the state will be in full operation. Several are in condition to start mining today.

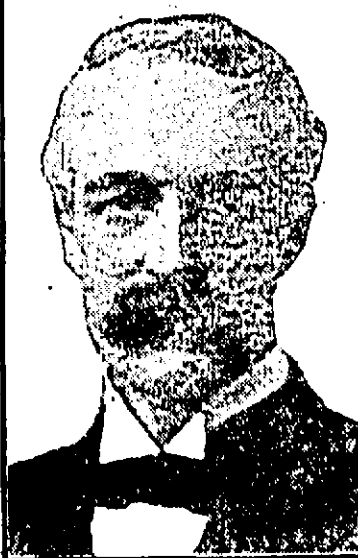

It is estimated that the strike has caused a shortage of at least 20,000,000 tons; a loss in wages amounting to $15,000,000, and a net loss to the operators of nearly $10,000,000.

PINCHOT BREAKS AT ST. PAUL.

Ex-Forester Takes for His Theme
"The Conservation Program."

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—Today is the closing day of what is admitted by all to have been the most interesting and successful of all gatherings that have considered the subject of conservation of our national resources. While the program today is shorter than that of any previous day of the National Conservation congress, it lacked nothing in interest and importance compared with the former sessions.

The big event of today was the address by Gifford Pinchot, former Gifford Pinchot.

United States forester and now president of the National Conservation association. Mr. Pinchot's address attracted one of the biggest crowds of the week. He took "The Conservation Program" as the theme of his address and was followed with intense interest by the vast assemblage. The flattering reception accorded the former forester when he arose to speak was second only to the demonstrations in honor of President Taft and former President Roosevelt earlier in the week.

An unusually interesting address was delivered at this morning's session by Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She was followed by Ben H. Lindsey, judge of the juvenile court, Denver, Col. Judge Lindsey's subject was "Saving Our Boys and Girls."

FOUNDED TWO INDIANA CITIES.

Marcus M. Towle Who Made Beef Trust Possible Is Dead.

Logansport, Ind., Sept. 8.—Marcus M. Towle, the man who made the beef trust possible, is dead in the Indiana asylum here. Towle conceived the idea of shipping dressed beef in refrigerator cars and saving the difference in freight between the live weight of beef and the weight of dressed beef.

Towle was the founder of the cities of Hammond and East Chicago. He was worth $1,000,000 at one time but lost most of his fortune in unfortunate investments.

Jockey Slasher Finishes.

Doncaster, England, Sept. 8.—Denny Slasher, the American jockey, finished third with Leuberg in the St. Leger stakes, worth $32,500, here. The race was for colts and fillies foaled in 1907, and the distance one mile six furlongs and 132 yards. Lord Derby's Swynford was first and Bronzino second. Eleven horses started. The Patterson stakes was won by H. P. Whitney's Dame d'Oro.

Lebeau, S. D., Fire Swept.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—A fire, the origin of which is not known here, wiped out the business district of Lebeau, S. D. The loss is estimated at $250,000.

The great volume of advertising carried in these columns is due to the great circulation of The Gazette. 6300 homes receive The Gazette daily and from this large number of homes many people are looking for just the thing advertised each day.

DAILY DIET HINTS

RELISH VS. REASON.

Food is easily digested and nutritious only when it is relished. The recognition of this important principle, unduly, to the neglect of others, is the cause of much of the error in our eating, resulting in sickness, early decay and inefficiency. The Swedish and Dutch must have coffee and rye bread and cheese to live; the Japanese live well without them. The wealthy class in England think they must have meat three times a day, while the sturdy Scotch and Scotch-Irish live a vigorous, life physically and mentally, with little or none. Evidently what food we think necessary is largely a matter of habit, and the children at least should have the benefit of the best habits. There is an ideal dietary, and while we may seldom reach the ideal in anything, progress is dependent upon knowledge, and as Herbert Spencer has shown in his work on education, the most important knowledge is that necessary for self-preservation. The conditions by which civilization surrounds us, certainly make it necessary to supplement instinct by reason in the selection of food.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

HAS SHE been in your guest room at all this summer—the guest non grata?

If you have any guest room to put her in I suspect she has, for she goes everywhere in the course of the season.

Who is this guest non grata?

Well, there are several varieties of her.

You have her for the week of August 7-14—that being the only week in which you can conveniently entertain her. She accepts with pleasure, making the slight proviso that, as it suits her plans better, she will come the next week instead—she is sure you won't mind because you aren't to put yourself out for her, and anyway you are always so accommodating.

A more virulent variety goes even farther than this, and not only dates her invitation but extends it to herself—at least in its definite form. You have remarked, perhaps, in an unwary moment that you would like to have her come and see you if she is over in your part of the country, and your unwelcome is duly published when you get a note saying that she will be staying right near your summer home next week, and be glad to come and see you for a few days, if convenient.

Although apparently amply supplied with trunk room she never brings more than half the little things she needs. All through her stay you patiently—or impatiently—supply her with stamps, writing paper, fountain pen, rubber, wear out my typewriter to try to enumerate them.

She will never say "which." You have two plans in the air awaiting her choice. You ask her which she prefers. "Either that is agreeable to you," she says. You explain fully that it really is immaterial to you and that you really want to know her preference, but she hides it religiously. You go ahead blindly and choose the wrong thing of course.

She doesn't read or embroider or amuse herself in any way and when you are not doing something to amuse her, she is plainly bored.

She always has numerous friends stopping in the vicinity of your home and regards it as part of her privilege as your guest to have you entertain them frequently.

She sings or plays beautifully and you have counted on enjoying her talent, but she assures you humbly that she left her music at home, and can't sing or play a note without it.

She "never eats" this or that. Of course she insists that you are not to get anything special for her, but of course you do.

She is late to breakfast and fails to air her room properly.

She attempts—usually this variety is a relative—in the most kindly but most exasperating way to make your home on the pattern of hers.

You must try the breakfast food and the brand of bird and the peculiarly efficacious cleaning powder that are used in her home. Your maid must boil the clothes the way her maid does. You must give your children the medicine that helps hers. You must make your shirtwaist by the pattern that she likes so much.

Did I say she was a variety of the "guest non grata?"

Take it back.

She belongs in a class by herself.

And since my Latin fails me and I don't know the Latin superlative of "non grata," I'll just call it "most non grata."

LEADS IN GREAT WORK OF RELIEF.

Mrs. Jennie L. Berry, President of the Woman's Relief Corps.

New York, N. Y.—The work of the Woman's Relief Corps moves along so smoothly and unostentatiously that little is known of its work of relief and its work for moral and education. The total membership of this order is 181,616, and each year nearly $150,000 is expended along relief, moral and educational lines. Over 35,000 persons received relief in the organization last year.

Since the organization of the corps in 1883 it has expended for such purposes $3,577,001. The work of Mrs. Jennie L. Berry, present incumbent of the office of president of the Woman's Relief Corps, has endeared her to every member of the organization.

MILLIONAIRE'S WIFE ATTEMPTS TO SMUGGLE INTO THE UNITED STATES THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS' WORTH OF GEMS.
Mrs. Ada F. C. Adrance, in whose possession $14,000 worth of gems were found, and her husband, J. Reynolds Adrance, millionaire manufacturer and banker, of Poughkeepsie.

Word to the Wise.

The greatest mistake girls can make is to talk loudly in public places. Unfortunately, the habit of thus discussing people and private affairs is very prevalent in omnibuses, trains, or ten rooms, and it often gives rise to a good deal of mischief, as there is great danger in talking over personal matters when the speaker is not aware who is near her, says Home Notes.

Long Days.

How would you like to live in a place where the longest day lasted three months and a half? But that really is the length of the longest day in Spitzbergen, a far northern cape on the way to the north pole. At a place called Wardbury, in Norway, the longest day lasts from May 21 to July 22; that means that it's daylight all the time, so that you go to bed in daylight and wake up in daylight, too, for ever so many weeks. It must be funny, mustn't it?

At St. Petersburg, the capital of Russia, the longest day lasts 19 hours and the shortest one only five hours. London's longest day is 16½ hours, while New York's is about 15 hours.

THEATER

Readers of Augusta J. Evans' fast-paced words were used by Ashton in his novel, "St. Elmo," and they are Stevens, the critic of the Chicago Examiner, will be interested in the announcement that Grace Hayward's success in his review of this laughing authentic dramatization is to be presented at the Myers theatre on Wednesday, matinee and evening.

Miss Hayward's dramatization adheres very closely to the story of the book and to this is probably due, in large measure, the instant success of the play.

In point of box office receipts and public interest "St. Elmo" has been a surprise to everyone. It has offered additional proof, it is believed, that American playgoers want a wholesome, well-told story and will take it every time in preference to risque importations. A company of unusual excellence will present the play in this city.

"Baby Mine"

Not often does a play that has its first success in Chicago, win the New York City public without an effort; but an exception must be granted in the case of "Baby Mine," the now famous farce by the author of "Polly of the Circus," Margaret Mayo.

"Made in Chicago" is the label carried by this comic play; for not only was the farce first acted there, but the incident on which the play is based, was a Chicago happening, and was the subject of a long dispatch from Chicago, to the New York Times, in which newspaper, the article was read by Miss Mayo, this giving her the idea that underlies what has been called, the "funniest play ever written." The Uncle Tom's Cabin. That Al. M. Martin's production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is considered an instructive teacher has been demonstrated by the number of holidays granted school children, that they might attend the extra matinees which have been given in most of the large cities. The Martin revival is booked for an early date at the Myers theatre on Tuesday, matinee and night.

Mystery in Loss of Liner.

The loss of the liner Wanchin is still one of the many unexplained mysteries of the sea. The boat, it will be remembered, after being sighted, three days out from Durban, vanished from human ken last year, with her freight of over two hundred passengers, and not a trace of her has yet been found. Another search has been made by the steamer Wakefield, which arrived at Melbourne recently. Her route was by way of Crozet, Heard and Macdonald Islands and Kerguelen land. After finishing her search among the islands the Wakefield followed a zigzag course to Australia, but saw not the slightest trace of wreckage. She experienced heavy calms and seas almost constantly. A large section of her course lay in uncharted waters and the frequent voyages which were made will add considerably to the existing knowledge of the seas traversed.

Three Hardest Words.

A learned man has said that the three hardest words to pronounce in the English language are "I was mistaken." When Frederick the Great wrote to the senate, "I have just lost a battle, and it's entirely my own fault," Goldsmith says, "his confession showed more greatness than all his victories."

UP PIKE'S PEAK
ON BURRO-BACK

WILL TIERNAN WRITES INTER-ESTING ACCOUNT OF TRIP.

SUNRISE FROM THE SUMMIT

Writer Gives Fine Description of View From Mountain Top and Tells Interesting Incidents of Journey.

Among the places usually visited by travelers in the West is Pike's Peak and to have ascended to the peak is a thing which those who have done it boast of. Many try it, but on account of the altitude of the mountain, never reach the summit because of the rare-ness of the air which affects those not of a strong constitution. Will Tiernan, now in Weiser, Idaho, made the trip and has written to the Gazette an account of his journey. His letter follows:

Editor Gazette:
There are three ways of ascending Pike's Peak—by the cog railroad, by burro, and by foot.

The cog railroad is a triumph of engineering. It consists of three rails, the middle one being provided with notches. Into these notches it runs on a wheel under the middle of the engine. This prevents the engine from slipping back as it pushes a car to the summit. This road ascends a mountain which, Pike the discoverer, stated only a bird could scale.

There are two objections to ascending by rail. It costs five dollars, and one cannot get off, if the altitude affects one, except at certain places.

Ascending on sure-footed burros is romantic but strenuous. Walking up is hard work, especially near the top where the rare air makes the least exertion exhausting. Descending on burros is a process of pushing back on the straps for twelve miles with your burro often making a perpendicular descent with the plains miles below. Walking down is having your entire foot slide into the toes of your shoes, irritating old corns and starting new ones. From the base to the summit is nine miles by rail and twelve by trail. Walkers follow the railroad.

I chose to ascend by burro at night to see the sunrise. I started with a party from Manitou at the foot of the mountain, at 8 o'clock in the evening to overtake a party which had started in the afternoon. It was bright moonlight and everybody was happy except the guide who looked the extra trip and responded to their names. My steed was named "Dutch Girl" and was both picturesque and statuesque—statue-like because of its build, kicks and shoulders had no effect on him. To my chamber he was next to the last to reach the top.

Moonlight in the mountains, when that moon is a slight never to be forgotten. Our winding path was sometimes so narrow that we barely squeezed through, and sometimes so steep that we with difficulty stuck to our burros. Far below us at times we could hear the splashing of mountain streams while on either side rose perpendicular walls of rock or steep, pinched mountains. Frequently our path wound down across the stream on a narrow, shaky bridge and up the steep ascent on the other side. Our guide took us on a forbidden short cut up the log railroad from where we were driven well up a steep bank by a descending car and engine.
This over, we pushed on, passing at the Half Way House (which, by the way, is only one-third the distance to the top) for refreshments and, at about 10:30 we overtook the other party at camp.

We found then a hilarious group of sixteen gathered around a camp fire making the night merry with songs.
We huddled them from afar, and on joining them our whole party burst out with "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," the ladies omitting the "H" in the word that refers to the infernal regions. There were a number of Wisconsin fellows present and we immediately gave the variety toast and yell with great effect. Then we put on our wraps, with the guide, and tyrannically ordered us on our burros, swathed our legs and feet with blankets to protect them from the cold, and we were ready for the last stage of our ascent.

My some people ascend Pike's Peak as a mystery. They seem to feel it is a terrible yet bounden duty. The rare atmosphere at that height has a disastrous effect on some people, especially those with weak hearts.
There was a young German lady from Milwaukee who was swathed from head to foot like an Egyptian mummy, and who was so fearful of impending disasters that even at camp she dropped everything that was loose about her and steered her burro,
"Barney," directly over the guide's lantern. Yet "Pike's Peak or Bust," was her motto. Then there was an old gentleman and his two daughters, who, being separated in the long file, inquired about each other's welfare regularly at intervals of five minutes
all the way to the top.

The path for the rest of the way consisted almost entirely of a narrow path among the rocks, so narrow that one foot often rubbed against the rock. The moonlight pouring down in a flood upon mountain peaks, mountain plains and mountain lakes was beautiful to behold. Far, far below the lights of Manitou and Colorado Springs glowed, and in another direction and at a higher altitude the lights of Cripple Creek twinkled in the night.
The blue scented mountain air was most invigorating. We at length got away from the pines, for Pike's Peak slopes about 3,500 feet above timber line, and commenced to wind up, by a tortuous path, to the top of that gigantic pile of huge rocks that forms the top of Pike's Peak. One gets an idea from the base of the humanness of that peak. The top seemed to recede from us as we ascended. Often we rounded a precipice where a mistake would have hurled us scores of feet down upon the rocks.

Near the top the chieftain gentleman a shapless crew, and diligently at work to vomit. The news spread

The Passing of the Old Hotel.
It is too bad that the old hotel is so scarce in a way, for "zero" is much comfort and peace to be derived by being around one of them. In your old hotel Mr. Traveler may turn completely around without having to pay five cents. He can put on his hat without giving up a nickel, if he drops his umbrella he does not have to part with a dime to have it recovered. He may scrub his hands in the washroom of the old hotel without having somebody buzzing in his ears, asking if the water is satisfactory and collecting money to hand him the towel, which is on the shelf in front of him. He may part his hair, if he has any, without paying demurrage. He may smoke, write a letter, get where he pleases and be glad that life is not all marble flats and gilt bellboys. It is such a fine thing to have an old hotel—Gim-con Ford in Leslie's.

Form Co-Operative Company at Leyden to Make Butter, Ice Cream, and Dairy Products.

Edward Fox, E. F. Burlington and J. O'Hanlon of Leyden, representing numerous farmers of that vicinity, are the incorporators of the Leyden Cooperative Creamery association of which were filed with the register of deeds yesterday afternoon. Three hundred shares of ten dollars each have been issued making the capital stock of the association $3,000. The company will make butter, ice cream and handle various dairy products.
This organization, which is among the first in the county, shows the trend of the times and the growing desire of the farmers to unite and by eliminating the middle man's profits, make agriculture more remunerative.

LACK OF MONEY
Was a Godsend in This Case.

It is not always that a lack of money is a benefit.
"A lady of Green Forest, Ark., owes her leg in advance the fee demanded by a specialist to treat her for stomach trouble. In telling of her case she says:
"I had been treated by four different physicians during 10 years of stomach trouble. I called on another who told me he could not cure me that I had neuralgia of the stomach.
Then I went to a specialist who told me I had catarrh of the stomach and said he could cure me in four months but would have to have his money down. I could not raise the necessary sum and in my extremity I was led to quit coffee and try Postum.
"So I stopped coffee and gave Postum a thorough trial and the results have been marvellous. I now sleep well at night, something I had not done for a long time; the pain in my stomach is gone and I am a different woman.
"I dreaded to quit coffee because every time I had tried to stop it I suffered from severe headaches, so I continued to drink it although I had reason to believe it was injurious to me, and was the cause of my stomach trouble and extreme nervousness. But when I had Postum to shift to it was different.
"To my surprise I did not miss coffee when I began to drink Postum.
"Coffee had been steadily and surely killing me and I didn't fully realize what was doing it until I quit and changed to Postum."
Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

The Magic of a Smile.

The expression of our face is of so great importance that we must watch it closely, so as to give happiness to all around us, but above all to the beloved heart. A cross look, a mere frown, has often been the beginning of much bitterness of heart and sorrow between lovers, says Woman's Life. A smile demands so slight an effort, and has such great power, in a woman, especially, charm of expression is everything.

As the significance of Cherry's words sank into his mind the signs of an up-

"I'll give my life to it."

holy joy overspread the fisherman's visage, and his hairy paws continued to open and close hungrily.

"Do you mean business?" he bellowed at Emerson. "Can you fight?"

"Yes."

"This gang won't stop at anything," warned Balt.

"Neither will I," affirmed the other, with a scowl and a dangerous down-drawing of his lip corners. "I've got to win, so don't waste any time wondering how far I'll go. What I want to know is if you will join my enterprise."

"I'll give my life to it," flashed Cherry.

"And if we don't beat Willis Marsh, by glory, I'll kill him!" he shouted, fully capable of carrying out his threat, for his bloodshot eyes were lit with bitter hatred. Turning to the girl, he said:

"Now give me something to eat. I've been living on dogfish till my belly is full of bones."

Long after Cherry had gone to bed she heard the murmur of their voices.

"It's all arranged," they advised her at the breakfast table. "We leave tomorrow."

"Tomorrow?" she echoed blankly.

"We start in the morning. We have no time to waste."

She felt a sudden dread at her heart. What if they failed and did not return? What if some untoward peril should overtake them on the outward trip? It was a hazardous journey, and George Balt was the most reckless man on the Bering coast. Emerson's next words added to her alarm:

"We'll catch the mail boat at Katmai."

"Katmai!" she broke in sharply. "You said you were going by the Hiaman route." She turned on Balt angrily. "You know better than to suggest such a thing."

"I didn't suggest it," said Balt. "It's Mr. Emerson's own idea; he insists."

"I shall be dreadfully worried until I know you are safely over," said the girl, a new note of wistful tenderness in her voice.

"Nonsense! We've all taken bigger risks before."

"Do you know," she began hesitatingly, "I've been thinking that perhaps you'd better not take up this enterprise after all."

"Why not?" he asked, with an incredulous stare. "I thought you were enthusiastic on the subject."

"I am. I believe in the proposition thoroughly," Cherry blurted out, "but—well, I was entirely selfish in getting you started, for it possibly means my own salvation, but—"

"It's my last chance also," Hoyd broke in.

"A few days ago you were a stranger; now you are a friend," she said steadily. "One's likes and dislikes grow rapidly when they are not choked by convention. I like you too well to see you do this. You are too good a man to become the prey of those people. Remember George Balt."

"Balt hasn't started yet. For the first time he is a real menace to Willis Marsh."

"Won't you take my advice and reconsider?" urged the girl.

"Listen," said the young man. "I came to this country with a definite purpose in mind, and I had three years in which to work it out. I needed money—God, how I needed money! They may talk about the emptiness of riches and tell you that men labor not for the 'kill,' but for the pursuit; not for the score, but for the contest. Maybe some of them do, but with me it was gold I needed, gold I had to have, and I didn't care much how I got it so long as I got it honestly. I focused every power upon my desire, but a curse was on me—a curse nothing less. At first I took material philosophy, but when it came and slept with me I began to rage at it. It was terrifying because my time was shortening, and the last day of grace was rushing toward me."

"Just to show you what luck I played in, at Dawson I found a prospect that would have made most men rich, and although such a thing had never happened in that locality before, it plucked out. I tried again and again, and finally found another mine, only to be robbed of it by the Canadian laws in such a manner that there was not the faintest hope of my ever recovering the property. I finally shifted from mining to other ventures, and the town burned. I awoke in a midnight blizzard to see my chance for a fortune licked up by flames, while the blast of the wind from the stormer's hose seemed directed at me, and the voice of the crowd sounded like Jeers.

"I was among the first at Nome and staked alongside the discoverers who undertook to put me in right for once; but, although the fellows around me made fortunes in a day, my ground was barren and my bedrock swept clean by that unseen hand which I always felt, but could never avoid.

Once a broken snowshoe in a race to the recorder's office lost me a fortune; at another time a corrupt judge plunged me from certainty to despair, and all the while my time was growing shorter and I was growing poorer.

"Two hours after the Topkuk strike was made I drove past the shaft, but the one partner known to me had gone to the cabin to build a fire and the other one fled to me, thinking I was a stranger. I heard afterward that just as I drove away my friend came to the door and called after me, but the day was bitter, and my ears were muffled with fur, while the dry snow beneath the runners shrieked so that it drowned his cries. He chased me for half a mile to make me rich, but the hand of fate lashed my dogs faster and faster, while that hellish screeching outlived his voice. Six hours later Topkuk was history. You've seen stampedes—you understand.

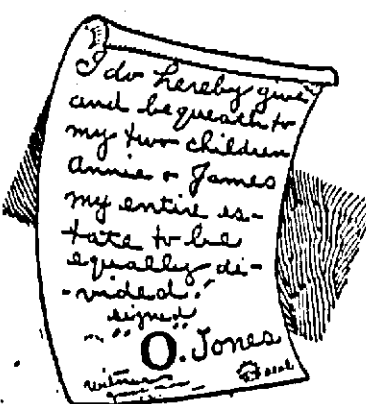

"My name became a byword and caused people to laugh, though they shrank from me, for miners and sailors are equally superstitious. No man ever had more opportunities than I, and no man was ever so miserably unfortunate in missing them. In this I became whipped, utterly without hope. Yet almost from habit I fought on and on with my ears deaf to the voices that mocked me.

"And something tells me that I have left that ill omened thing behind at last, and I am going to win!"

"But you're too late," suggested Cherry. "You say your time was up some time ago."

"Perhaps," he returned, staring into the distances. "That's what I was going out to ascertain. I thought I might have a few days of grace allowed me. That's why I can't quit, now that you've set me in motion again, now that you've given me another chance. That's why we leave tomorrow and go by way of the Katmai pass."

The King's Marriage Feast, Matt.
xxii:1-14.

Golden Text. Many are called, but few are chosen. Matt. xxii:14.

Verse 1—Read the preceding chapter and say whether Jesus answered their words or their thoughts.

Verse 2—What points of resemblance are there between the kingdom of heaven, and a king making a marriage feast for his son?

Who did Jesus mean the king, and the king's son to represent?

Who are the bride and the bridegroom in this wedding? (See Rev. 21:9.)

How does a marriage feast represent the gospel? (See Isa. 25:6, 1 Cor. 5:8, Rom. 14:17.)

Verse 3—Who were the first bidden to the gospel feast, and why did they not come?

By whom did God send out His first invitation?

Verse 4—What are the luxuries offered to us in the gospel?

Why did the world, and the Jewish church alike, refuse the gospel invitation?

What excuses do people make to-day for not coming to the gospel feast? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Which were the more pronounced in their refusal to come to the marriage feast of the gospel: the world, or the Jewish church?

What part did the world take, in assisting the then organized church, in slaying Jesus and the apostles?

What is the demerit of a backslider, corrupt priest or preacher, compared to a worldly man, in the matter of their rejection of the invitation to the gospel feast?

Verse 7—What amiles, as a matter of fact, destroyed the murderers of God's servants, and laid Jerusalem in ruins?

Verse 8—To whom was the gospel message first sent, and why was it then so restricted? (See Chap. 10: 5-6.)

When was the invitation to this wedding feast first offered to the Gentiles? To what nations is the gospel invitation being offered to-day?

Why are the bidden, to this wedding feast, as well as the good?

Are there any so bad that the invitation is not intended for them?

About how many are living to-day, who have accepted the invitation to this gospel feast?

Verse 11—Who does this guest represent who did not have on a wedding garment?

What proportion of hypocrites, or unconverted persons, are to-day members of evangelical churches?

What is the portion of the sinner and the hypocrite?

God calls everybody; why are so few chosen?

Big C

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, September 9, 1870.—Jottings.—A recent delopment has created a sensation among the colored population of our city. Potatoes are selling at the grocery at $1.50 per bushel. A year ago the same quantity could be bought for twenty cents.

The dedication hall at Concordia hall, last evening, was participated in by a large number of our citizens, both German and American. The fair passed off in a creditable manner, and of course all enjoyed themselves, for when people attend entertainments of this nature they go for the express purpose of having a good time and if everything is as harmonious, as on this occasion, there is nothing to mar the pleasure of the company. Hon. Charles G. Williams delivered a short address, in which as usual, he did himself credit.

A party starting for Lake Koshongong in a sail boat, took on board an eight gallon keg of fluid ballast to steady the craft, as there was a rough sea on. By some slight-of-hand process (on which the hand didn't slight the mouth) a portion of the ballast was transferred from the bottom of the boat to the upper story of the crew, rendering the vessel top-heavy, and shortly she exhibited signs of distress by floating bottom upward upon the turbulent waters. The crew was rescued, but the ballast found a watery grave.

A party of workmen are repairing the east end of the upper dam, which was very much weakened by the spring freshets. The workshops and other buildings near the spot subjected to repairs are built on a substratum of quicksand, which renders it necessary that precaution should be taken against the possibility of a break in the dam at that spot, as such an accident would prove disastrous to the large amount of property accumulated there. It will be entirely safe, though, when the improvements now in progress are completed.

Ungenerous Action

There are many who excuse their own life spent on a lower plane by applying the wrong epithet to those who live on a higher one.

Mr. Church—I see one of those Salome dancers has returned from Europe, with sixteen trunks filled with clothes.
Mr. Gotham—For gracious sakes! What is she going to do with the clothes?

Electric Sterilizing of Wounds.
Electric sterilizing ovens, at first used only for the sterilization of dental and surgical instruments are now used to some extent to sterilize stubborn wounds or ulcers. The heat penetrates the tissues in a way that surface antiseptics cannot, and even though the temperature is run up to 500 degrees F., which is nearly 300 degrees higher than the boiling point of water, the skin is not scorched. As the heat increases in the oven, the skin of the patient protects itself by throwing off a profuse perspiration, which prevents scorching.

Grazing Lands
in Solid Sections at $5 to $20 Per Acre

No better offer in grazing lands has ever been made in the United States than the one now being advanced by the American Immigration Co. of Chicago, Ill. The lands offered are in the famous Round Lake Region in Sawyer County, Wis.

These lands, comprising more than 20,000 acres, have been thrown on the market at remarkably low prices, and easy terms.

The Round Lake Country is less than 150 miles from the St. Paul Stockyards and the freight rates are low.

A small investment in a solid section or two of these lands is the foundation of an independent fortune. Nothing safer—nothing surer!

The mild climate and abundant production of this amazing cheap land is attracting the attention of stock raisers of the East and of the Western ranges as well. This is a quick-action proposition.
